Capital Market Consultant's Research Analyst Completes His Pursuit of the Chartered Financial Analyst Designation

Milwaukee, Wisconsin September 6, 2017 — Capital Market Consultants, Inc. is pleased to announce that Research Analyst, Matt Sobocinski has earned the designation of Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA).

The CFA charter, which is the most recognized investment credential in the world, displays a tradition of carrying the highest standards of integrity and knowledge in the investment profession. All recipients of the CFA charter have completed a rigorous program, which includes successfully completing the CFA Program, a graduate-level, self-study curriculum and a series of three demanding examinations taken sequentially, which takes most candidates between two and five years. Since the formalization of the CFA exam in 1963, around one in five candidates who enroll in the CFA Program pass all three exams to meet the professional requirements to earn the charter.

“Becoming a CFA charter holder has been a challenging and rewarding process. I am proud to have committed the time and effort to deepen my investment knowledge and therefore better serve our clients. Not only has the program improved my portfolio management and research skills, but it has also taught me great discipline. By succeeding in passing all three levels on my first attempts, I have proven to myself that I can achieve anything that I put my mind to. Now that I have completed the program, I am excited to be able to spend more time with the family and friends that I have had to turn down invitations from while I was studying. I also am eager to start a new chapter in my life and search for the next big challenge to take on to continue developing myself as an investor and person.”

According to CMC CEO Barry K. Mendelson, CIMA “Matt has been a great addition to our team in just the half a year he has been here. His dedication to client service fits right in with the CMC culture.”
